Dress the Hair

With Ayer's Hair Vigor. Its cleanliness, beneficial effects on the scalp, and lasting perfume commend it for universal toilet use—It keeps the hair soft and silken, preserves its color, prevents it from falling, and, if the hair has become weak or thin, promotes a new growth

"To restore the original color of my har, which had turned prematurely gray, I used Ayer's Harr Vigor with en-tire success. I cheerfully testify to the son, Alexandria, La.

'I was afflicted some three years with scalp disease. My hair was falling out and what remained turned gray. I was induced to try Ayer's Hair Vigor, and in a few weeks the disease in my scalp disappeared and my hair resumed its original color."—(Rev.) S. S. Sims, Pastor U. B. Church, St. Bermee, Ind.

Pastor U. B. Church, St. Bernice, Ind.

"A few years ago I suffered the entire loss of my hair from the effects of tetter.
I hoped that after a time nature would repair the loss, but I waited in vain
Many remedies were suggested, none, however, with such proof of merit as Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began to use it.
The result was all I could have desired.
A growth of hair soon came out all over my head, and grew to be as soft and heavy as I ever had, and of a natural color, and firmly set."—J. H. Pratt,

The Grotesque Arizona Cactus

Foremost among the sights which call forth exclamations of astonishment from the tourist is that of the grotesque cactus of Arizona territory. Like other tropical productions, it is totally unlike any preconceived notions of what nature could design. The plant is leafless, having a bare, fleshy stock, protected every-where by sharp and venomous barbs. Its flowers are considered among the choicest, varying from white and yellow to deep crimson or purple. These blossoms, capitulum, are wax like, and their inflorescence calls to mind Alladin's fabled experience among the fairy plants, with their sparkling fruits of diamonds and other gems.

The fruit is egg shaped, with a crown fruit in size is all the way up from a canary's to an ostrich's egg. The cactus is almost imperishable, and can live many months without water, although it is only seen in its perfection under a plentiful supply. So hardy is the plant that a piece from any part will take root and grow if piaced in the ground, even though it has ain around for a time. It thrives equally well on a piece of bare rock in a scorching tropical sun as it

STORY OF THE EARLY DAYS OF STAGING OUT WEST.

Millionaire's Son Traced by a Wheel Mark on an Overcoat-A Wild Ride with Relays-Shipping Bullion in a Cask of Molasses for Safety.

"Stage robbing was almost a legitimate business in early days," said an old lomstocker. "The express company lost a great deal of money in that way, and at last James Gannon was sent up to Virginia miscence, and when his whole family is sented at table they number fiftyto break up the business. He was a shrewd man, and he devised more schemes for outwitting the road agents drawing room, as large as a fair sized church, and presented to the ladies We than you ever heard of. He sent treasure in sacks of potatoes, which were loaded on prairie schooners, and oven the drivers never suspected that they were carrying anything more valuable than potatoes. I have known him to drop a bar of bullion that they compared quite favorably with The ladies were attired in graceful native costumes. The dress consisted of a waist, such as is worn by Europeans, into a cask of molasses and send it through safely, when he knew tho agents with a long scarf of embroidered silk or were watching for it. It was Gannon crape, called a sarre, wrapped several times about the waist and falling in who thought of sending shotgun mescengers on the stages, and he made them carry their guns with the muzzles restbroad folds about the limbs in lieu of a skirt. One end of the sarre was brought over the head and dropped gracefully in ing on their toes, so that they didn't dare to fall asleep. He broke up stage rob-bing as a branch of the general merfront, constituting a very effective headchandise business by making it too Their jewels were magnificent. No

"While I was keeping a saloon in Virginia City, Clem Lee and three other fellows, whose names have slipped my memory, came into the camp and started a big fare game close to my place. They had $20,000 in the drawer, and I think they had got hold of the coin by holding up a stage. They did a big business and were making plenty of money.

"It was the custom then to close up the games at 13 o'clock on Sunday night. Clem and one of his partners came to me and asked me to mix them up two bottles of cocktails. He wanted them n champagne bottles and had the labels scratched off. I wondered what all that meant, and I found out later. I also noticed that Clem Lee had borrowed a light overcoat from Charlie Dexter.

"As soon as their place was closed, Clem and his partner mounted their horses on B street and rode out of town. Clem was riding a horse that he hired from the chief of police. All the animals were good, and as soon as they were out of town they had a chance to show their speed. The four horsemen spurred down the Geiger grade in the darkness at a terrific rate. If you have been over that road, you know what a gallop down the grade on a dark night means. It is a steep and winding road through the mountains. The turns are sharp and, where it runs through Dead Man's Gulch, a slip over the edge would send horse and rider to kingdom come in

At Washoo they had four good a delightful drive in handsome European horses staked out, and it did not take Parsee house. The ceremony was long and stately, all the dishes were native, them long to shift saddles, try my cocktails, mount and start off again. They but the wines were European, and this dinner, with that exception, was repreknew what they were after, and they did not miscalculate time or distance.

"In those days the stage companies had good stock, and when the Reno stage came along six horses were making it spin. Four men sprang into the road, and one of them shouted to the driver to stop. The driver could not pull up short, and the men had barely time to spring aside and avoid the wheels. Clem Lee they gave us contours way. It was a dream of the east, but the perfectly appointed of the leaders fell dead. The other the east, but the perfectly appointed table, surrounded by intelligent men and herses tumbled over the one that was down, and the stage was stopped, but not before a deputy shcriff on the box had pulled a gun and sent a ball through Clem's partner, Dick.

THE MARK ON CLEM'S COAT. "The passengers were ordered out and ranged in line, the driver threw down the box, and while the plunder was being gathered up one of the robbers said to the disarmed deputy sheriff: 'I think we ought to kill you, my friend.' Clem Lee interfered and said: 'No; there's been enough bloodshed. Let him alone The stage was put to rights, everybody got aboard, and it was driven away, covered while in sight by the robbers

"The three gamblers buried their dead pal, but where they dug his grave nobody knows. Then they mounted their horses, rode at desperate speed back to Washoe, changed horses there and pushed on up the Geiger grade to Virginia City, where they arrived at 9 o'clock in the morning and immediately went to bed. They felt pretty safe, as nobody on the upper side, and is generally de-licious, presenting as varied colors as the flowers. his success and bidding her to come It is said that she sailed from her native ome with a glad heart, in anticipation of meeting with her husband after an absence of two years. Every vessel that came over was eagerly looked after the newspapers were scanned for intelligence of her arrival, but nothing could be heard of her. The ship on which it is said she sailed arrived in Baltimore and the wife landed there. The professor with a joyous heart went there, but lo! no trace of her could be found, and the days, weeks and months until fourteen years have passed without his knowing of her whereabouts. From city to city has he gone in the search. His head was black then, now it is white, but there is a tenderness in his face mixed with sorrow, and a cankering in his heart, but he goes on and on, with the hope of finally meeting his long lost wife -Athens (Ga.) How Celluloid Is Manufactured. While everybody has heard of, or seen or used celluloid, only a few know what it is composed of or how it is made. The following is a description of the process carried out in a factory near Paris for the production of celluloid:

A roll of paper is slowly unwound, and at the same time saturated with a mix-ture of five parts of sulphuric acid and two parts of nitric acid, which falls upon the paper in fine spray. This changes the cellulose of the paper into proxylin gun cotton. The excess of the acid having been expelled by pressure, the paper is washed with plenty of water until all traces of acid have been removed. It is then reduced to a pulp, and passes on to the bleaching trough.

Most of the water having been got rid of by means of a strainer, the pulp is mixed with from 20 to 40 per cent, of its weight in camphor, and the mixture thoroughly triturated under millstones. The necessary coloring having been added in the form of powder, a second mixing and grinding follows.

The finely divided pulp is then spread out in thin layers on slabs, and from twenty to twenty-five of these layers are placed in a hydraulic press, separated from one another by some sheets of thick blotting paper, and are subjected to a pressure of 150 atmospheres, until all traces of moisture have been got prid of. The matter is then passed between rollers heated to between 140 and 150 degs. Fahrenheit, whence it issues in the form of clastic sheets -The Inventor.

The "Sentence System."

Charles Dickens, while visiting the Massachusetts school ship, was called upon for a "speech." He responded by saying, "Boys, do all the good you can and make no fuss about it.

Mr. Dickens, as his novels attest, be lieved in the beneficial effect of a pithy saying and a striking proverb-pointed words which would fasten themselves in the memory. The conductors of the "Netherlands Mettray," one of the model "Netherlands Alettray," one of the model reform schools of Holland, use this "sentence system" as a means of moral education. They hang on the walls such sentences as these: "He who seeks himself will not find

God;" "A poor man he who has nothing "He is a fool who lives poo but money;" "He is a fool who lives poor to die rich," "Labor has a golden bottom;" "Care for the moments, and these will care for the years."

Sometimes a boy is made to learn a sentence by heart. One boy was overheard using foul speech to a comrade. He was ordered to read to the boys every morning for eight days this sentence "It is better to be dumb than to use the tongue for filthy talk." It made him clean in speech.—Youth's Companion.

In the province of Canton are occasionally dug up ancient copper gongs of drums, which some say were made by the aboriginal Laos tribes, others say by Ma Yuan, the renowned commander who invaded Tong King in A. D. 41 and quelled the rising of the rebellious tribes against the Chinese, erecting a pillar o bronze on the extreme southern border of the "hill country." The Nan-hal Maio temple, at Canton possesses two of these curious monuments, one large and one small; the characters are mostly indecipherable, owing to the length of time they have been under the ground. The larger one was obtained from the tomb of a barbarian chief 1,000 years ago, dur ing the Tang dynasty at Kao-chow; the smaller one at Sunchow. They are much valued as rarities by the Canton people A very fine sounding one was dug up lately and presented by the finder to the Temple of Confucius. — Chinese Exchange.

STRUCK A SNAG The Presidents of the Western Roads

Chicago, Jan 30 -The presidents of the Western roads at their meeting yesterday struck a snag that threatens to nullify all the work of both the Nev York and Chi cage meetings Tie Chicago, Burlington dents to understand that it would become a party to the agreement if allowed protect itself against competitors, sud denly, after being conceded this right turned squarely around and demanded concessions which were equivalent to refusal to join the new association Burlington & Northern demanded that the Eastern Minnesota, the St Paul & Du-luth, the "Soo" and the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic should also be included in the agreement, but as it is generally pelieved that the "Soo" at least will not join, the probable result, in case the Burlington & Northern maintains its present attitude, will be the collapse of the Inter-State Railway Association

A vote was taken on the agreement as it was modified during the week and all the roads present voted for its adoption, with the single exception of the Burling-ton & Northern, which refused lo vote at all The opinion is very generally held among spiliond officials however, that the Burlington & Northern will ultimately out the association, and it is the intention to proceed on the assumption that the agreement has been actually adopted, in the hope that either the Burlington & Northern will weaken or that its competitors will come into the association The presidents will meet again to-day to elect an arbitrator and to attend to other details provided by the agreement. They will probably remain in session for several days

WHEN the first electric telegraph was established, the speed of transmission was from four to five words a mipute with the five-needle instruments, in 1849 the average rate for newspaper messages vas seventeen words a minute, the present pace of the electric telegraph between London and Dublin, where the Wheatstone instrument is employed, is tour hundred and sixty-three words, and thus what was regarded as miraculous sixty years ago has multiplied a hundred fold in half a century.

An Interesting Case.

The payment of an insurance policy of $5,000 on the life of "Doo" Haggerty, a teamster, who was so thoroughly blown away by the explosion of a wagon load of nitro the explosion of a wagon load away by the explosion of a wagon load of nitro-elycerine which he was driving, near Pl asantville, Pennsylvania, that not more than a pound of his body was found, is being disputed by the companies interested, on the ground that such utter annihilation was impossible even with so powerful an explosive. They claim that the "remains" found are no proof that Haggerty is dead. Interesting testimony is being gathered to show that nitro-glycerine has proved at times more of an eraser of human identity, than the Pleasantville incident would indicate.—

In last evening's edition reference was made to the sensation Roy W. R. Goodwin made at the Methodist pastors' meeting held in Chicago on Monday. Here is the report as given in the Inter-Ocean Arion Quartet R. W Chilson, C W Montgomery. C P. Fenner and A. B Alexander. A fine programme has been arranged for the concert which will be directed by Prof Bull There was an explosion at the Methodist ministers' meeting yesterday during a discussion by Dr. W. R. Goodwin, of carred when the speaker said he believed God in His providence had ordained the Methodist Church to be leader in the crusade that would rescue the Sabbath from the hands of the Sunday newspapers and from corrupt politicians. "I believe," he then said, "that God wants us to lead in the war against the accuraed saloon, against license, high or low, whether championed by Methodists in New York or Chicago, and to plant the conquering banner of complete legal pro-hibition over State house and White House, until there shall be no saloon in the state or national capital, and no liq-uors at inauguration balls and no heathsh balls at ipanguration ' enish calls at transguration.

Dr Goodwin also spoke of the direlect bishops and wondered how it happened that while the church rules prohibited tobacco users from entering the pulpit, that six of these violators, and each a pre siding elder, were seen in a recent confe ence using tobacco at the same time. A surgian burst open the door a Peter Haley's candy stand last might while the proprietor was at the theatre. Officer Midkiff discovered the door ajar

"HOME COMFORT" FURNACES.

Wrought Steel, . Malleable Iron, No Dust. Yery Little Fuel, No Leaky Joints.

No one can say that the time was not ripe io: a new furnace. The days of brittle, porous, .cast iron furnaces are numbered. In every branch of manufacture cast iron is being driven out by wrought iron and steel. Every bridge that goes down in a wreck of lives and property is found to have cast iron members. Every bursting cannon which slays its friends rather than its enemies is made of cast iron. Every leaky furnace which poisons a household with its noisome gases is found to be made of the same cheap, unreliable material. Improved methods of manufacture have made steel and iron plate, of first quality, less expensive than cast iron formerly was, and it is plainly in accord with progress in other directions that there should be progress both in design and the material of furnaces for warming our homes, churches and schools.

While a dance was at its zenith of pleasure at the residence of Mr. Clawson, a bucket of water was drawn from the well and brought in which contained a sucker fish about five inches long. The fish had been placed in the well by the children. The appearance of the sucker in the drinking water caused comment by the company, during which one of the young yeomanry "lowed he could swaller the reptile fer fun er money." This observation occasioned no little bantering and bullyragging, until finally he was told that he would be given $1 if he would throw it under his collar.

The boaster said he would go him and, taking the fish by the tail, he laid back his head, spread his potato trap from pole to pole, and let her go, Gallagher. The finny explorer shot down the yawning gullet like a well greased toboggan, its extended fins raking the sides with a sort of ripping sound as of accration, and sickening to hear. The toned his shirt collar, gave himself a flirt and shake, and proclaimed in a loud voice that he could "swaller a live dog with his tail curled over his back, catch as catch can, and no limit to size, for But he got well away with his bluff (if bluff it was), for no one doubted his ability to do so; and this, coupled with the fear that the passage of a dog might imperil his diaphragm, brought the side show diversion to a close, and the dance went on with renewed joy until the break of day.-Idaho Demo-are malerstood to "get on" with one another very pleasantly, but, generally speaking, there is no more vehement animosity than is engendered between the man who writes the song and the man who sets it to music. Each of them ralls it his song and ascribes its popularity solely to his part in its production. But it is certainly the fact that not even Lord Tennyson's verse is half so valuable in current coin as a ballad of the music hall that has caught the ear of the public. It is not until music is "wedded to immortal verse" that verse, in most asca, becomes immortal, or at least fetches any extraordinary price in the market. Only the other day the damages claimed for singing a ditty of which somebody held the copyright were no ess than 2700. What poet ever received the tenth of such a sum for the words themselves? What is very curious and how a how we stick to old saws, "thoroughly worn out, the souls of them famed forth, the hearts of them torn out," is that we still use the term, "sold for a song," as an expression for cheap-ness -- London Independent.

Thought Her Papa Was Perfection. The precocity and cute sayings of childien are frequently a source of great annusement. When T. P. Shonts, the general manager of the Indiana, Illinois and lowa radway, was at the Palmer house a day or two ago he received a letter from home, and a certain portion of t he read to Trank Brobst, the clerk of the hotel. This portion was about Mr. Shonts' little 3-year-old daughter Marguerite. The mother wrote that upon getting the child ready for bed the usual form of saying a prayer was undergone. Marguerite had got through all right with the "God bless Marguerite and make her a good girl; God bless mainma and make her good so she won't spank Marguerite: God bless papa and When she had got thus far she stopped, heritated a moment, then getting off her knees said very solemnly while astin Dod to make my papa a dood man; he's dest about as dood as he tan be now. France. COMPLETENESS OF BOULANGER'S VICTORY LONDON, Jan. 28.—The completeness of General Boulanger's victory yesterday has had a curiously quieting effect on the Paris Bourse. The market has been steady all day, and financiers generally believe that it will shortly be stronge than for some time past. The bulk of the public and press opinion and comment on the election favors the belief that Bou langer, perfectly satisfied with the extent of his political strength, and content for the present with yesterday's disclosure of it, will remain quiet and calmly await the drift of events. The followers o Boulanger, as well as the General him-self, are convinced that so long as they remain quiescent any action the government may take against them will only add to their popular strength, and they are also confident that the Ministry's chagrin will lead Floquet and his colleagues to the commission of acts which will redound o the advantage of the new deputy for the HOULANGER FOR ORDER LONDON, Jan. 29. - The Telegraph's Paris correspondent informs his paper that in an interview General Boulanger said: "Instead of the government's treating the election as an ordinary accident affecting the life of Parliament, they have made out that the future of the republic depends upon it. If they do not now know what to do, I will not help them. I do not wish to give color to their accusation that I am a disturber. AN EXCITING SCENE. PESTH, Jan. 29.—There was a serie of great uproar in the Hungarian Parlia-ment yesterday upon the discovery that detectives had taken places in the detectives and taken places in the strangers' gallery. The Opposition mem-bers sprang to their feet, and pacing the floor of the House, shock their fasts al-ternately at the president and the detec-tives and cried, "turn them out." The uproar increased, the excited members meanwhile conducting themselves like maniacs. Finally the detectives rushed from the gallery into the street, but they came very near being lynched before they could make good their escape.
